

---

Subject: Re: How to set time in OpenVZ VPS?

Posted by divB on Mon, 07 Sep 2009 08:59:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Your containers will automatically use "that clock".

hwclock is a tool to modify the RTC. You can either set the system clock from the RTC (this is done on startup) or save the current system clock to RTC.

If you have a 24x7 system with guaranteed internet connection and use ntpdate you may no need to use the RTC.

---