Ubuntu template doesn't require anything tricky except using debootstrap like is mentioned in the forums earlier. I beleive I used the breezy script and just pointed towards the Ubuntu archive instead of Debian. Guys make sure and copy the debian.conf configuration files from /etc/sysconfig/vz-scripts/dists into a ubuntu.conf such that VZ knows how to handle IP functions etc...

If you guys would like I'd be happy to place my ubuntu template on an FTP server over here. I did forget to disable getty's from running, otherwise mine works just fine.
