no... it's a quite normal ubuntu. nothing special on it. Apache, mySQL, Exim4, postfix...
Exim4 made some trouble the last days... Maybe that's the reason...

But now... the host system is broken too, unfortunately and I'm waiting for the remote console access. And I ordered a Pizza to test which is faster... :-) maybe it's a hardware or filesystem issue...

Thanks for the tip with the daemon log. I didn't checked it. System is currently rebooting (since 15 minutes). I will wait additional 15 minutes and try to get the info from daemon.log using the rescue system.
