$2.5k? Possibly only if you intend to host over 80+ VPS on a Dual CPU machine in which cases it still only works out at about $30 per VPS. Licences start from just 3 CPU. The cost is offset by cheaper Plesk licences, plus you get VZPP, management tools and templates for Plesk and other applications, which assist hosting density.

However Cpanel treat OpenVZ and Virtuozzo as the same (they logged into one of my cpanel VPS's to verify) so qualify for the cheaper $7 cpanel vps licence for Virtuozzo (if you are a Cpanel NOC partner).
