
Subject: Re: "reboot" inside a container stops the container

Posted by MaksymDolgykh on Wed, 13 Apr 2011 16:24:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

reboot is working inside containers but you need add cron job

```
* /2 * * * * root /usr/share/vzctl/scripts/vpsreboot
```

this script do start rebooted containers.

On Wednesday 13 April 2011 12:16:52 Benjamin Henrion wrote:

> Hi,

>

> I found out that typing "reboot" in a container halts the whole > container, making it unreachable (the container itself is not running > anymore, checking with vzlist on the physical machine).

>

> Any idea if there is another command that kills all the processes and > restart the container from within a root shell on the container (yes I > know that you can do that with 'vzctl restart CTID' on the HN)?

>

> Best,
