Well here we are and it's a little more than 14 months since the last post.

The 2.6.32 openvz kernel (feoktistov) seems to have lagged a bit from mainline longterm. The latest openvz kernel is still based on 2.6.32.28 while mainline longterm is already at 2.6.32.39.

I hope the openvz kernel hackers could release an update. We're getting quite a bit behind on the security and bugfix updates...
