

---

Subject: Re: About Network Stack in OpenVz
Posted by MailingListe on Fri, 05 Aug 2011 08:49:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Zitat von shule ney <neyshule@gmail.com>:

> Hi all:
> Can I have one VM using TCP/IP stack while another VM using, say, apple talk > network stack within OpenVz?
> I see on the OpenVz website saying the network stack is *isolated*, but the > kernel is shared and the network stack resides in the kernel, is it possible > for the above operation?? Thanks very much for your reply guys :P

Not sure if apple talk is supported by Openvz, but in theory it should work at least with virtual ethernet devices.

http://wiki.openvz.org/Virtual\_Ethernet\_device

Regards

Andreas

---

File Attachments

1) smime.p7s, downloaded 316 times

---