

---

Subject: Re: suspend/restore

Posted by Yura Pismerov on Thu, 06 Jul 2006 13:58:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Kir Kolyshkin wrote:

>

>

> Yura Pismerov wrote:

>> Is there a way to suspend the state of a VM to disk in order to restore >> it later ?

>>

> vzctl chkpnt VEID

> vzctl restore VEID

> man vzctl for details

I did (before I posted the question) but I could not find that option in the manual.

I run Debian and vzctl is from the package.

I assume those features did not make it yet to Debian package.

Thanks.

>> I know there is vzmigrate, but this is not what I am looking for.

>>

> vzmigrate is a simple shell script, you can look through it and see > how it's done in details (including the freeze/unfreeze phase).

--

Yuri Pismerov, System Administrator

Armor Technologies (Canada) Inc.

P: 905 305 1946 (x.3519)

<http://www.armorware.net>

Privacy Protection Guaranteed!

---