Subject: How to register socket protocol to CT if I have my own kernel module???
Posted by shule ney on Mon, 19 Sep 2011 15:38:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi all:
I wrote a kernel module which registers a new socket family/protocol in kernel, when I insert this module and run user mode application in CT0 is all OK.
But when I launch the user mode application in CT, it seems not working: socket():Address family not supported by protocol.
so am I suppose to change the OpenVZ source code to make the registration also available in CT???What should I do. Thanks very much.
*
*

kindest wishes
gene