
Subject: How to register socket protocol to CT if I have my own kernel module???

Posted by shule ney on Mon, 19 Sep 2011 15:38:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi all:

I wrote a kernel module which registers a new socket family/protocol in kernel, when I insert this module and run user mode application in CT0 is all OK.

But when I launch the user mode application in CT, it seems not working: socket():Address family not supported by protocol.

so am I suppose to change the OpenVZ source code to make the registration also available in CT???What should I do. Thanks very much.

*

*

kindest wishes

gene
