
Subject: kernel panic with 2.6.32-042stab037.1
Posted by Rene on Sat, 08 Oct 2011 08:17:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Just had a kernel panic with 2.6.32-042stab037.1

Is that the latest stock kernel?

No details in /var/log/messages, all I have is a screenshot of the Call Trace from the console:

Would it make sense installing kdump in case it happens again?

kdump wants to install busybox, whats the implications of that?

Should I open a bug report with OpenVZ when all I have is a screenshot?

File Attachments

1) crash1.PNG, downloaded 885 times
