
Subject: Installing openVZ in a production server
Posted by Khaleal on Wed, 11 Jul 2012 19:23:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

I have a dedicated server running centOS with cPanel (Web hosting management control panel) installed.

Also, I have another VPS server which has a special website in it. in order to decrease the hosting costs I was thinking of creating a VPS container in the dedicated server and cancelling the VPS server.

My question is: Is it OK to install openvz software in the active dedicated server (which has cPanel with some sites) ? and then creating a VPS account? will this cause compatibility issues with the cPanel?

Thanks
