

---

Subject: Running windows over OpenVZ

Posted by sddie on Thu, 16 Aug 2012 14:54:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

We were reading about OpenVZ and we came across one disadvantage that we can't run Windows OS on this virtualization platform.

Proposing idea:

We can run QEMU in one of the containers which will create a virtualization environment for Windows.

Proposal:

We need to integrate the QEMU inside the OpenVZ so that whenever any Windows OS needs a virtualization environment, we will run a copy of QEMU working with single Windows OS.

Please give your suggestions over this.

--

Be Happy Always

+919579650250

---