

---

Subject: Re: 64/32 guests

Posted by nwmcsween on Mon, 10 Sep 2012 16:44:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On a pure 64 bit node / container system you probably can merge more memory with ksm, etc

On Sep 10, 2012, at 6:00 AM, Mark Olliver <mark.olliver@thermeon.com> wrote:

> Hi,

>

> I am wondering as memory management is a responsibility of the kernel and with openvz there is only a single kernel what benefit is there of running 64bit guests over 32bit guests if you are only running 32 bit programs even if they do use a lot of memory?

>

> Regards

>

> Mark

---