
Subject: Re: libcgroun and RHEL/CentOS/SL 6
Posted by Todd Lyons on Mon, 01 Oct 2012 15:33:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Sat, Sep 29, 2012 at 6:03 PM, LightDot <lightdot@gmail.com> wrote:
> Just a heads up to all whom this might concern - libcgroun from openvz > repo is now replacing the original libcgroun on RHEL 6.
> This kind of invasive OS changes should be announced somewhere, > really. Just a silent drop in the repo isn't a good way to introduce > such packages.

Look back in this mailing list 2 days before your post. Kir explained the need for it there.

...Todd

--

The total budget at all receivers for solving senders' problems is $0.
If you want them to accept your mail and manage it the way you want,
send it the way the spec says to. --John Levine
