

---

Subject: Re: [PATCH v5 04/14] kmem accounting basic infrastructure
Posted by Tejun Heo on Thu, 18 Oct 2012 19:47:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hey, Glauber.

On Thu, Oct 18, 2012 at 09:01:23PM +0400, Glauber Costa wrote:
> That is the offensive part. But it is also how things are done in memcg > right now, and there is nothing fundamentally different in this one.
> Whatever lands in the remaining offenders, can land in here.

I think the problem here is that we don't have "you're committing to creation of a new cgroup" callback and thus subsystem can't synchronize locally against cgroup creation. For task migration ->attach() does that but cgroup creation may fail after ->create() succeeded so that doesn't work.

We'll probably need to add ->post_create() which is invoked after creation is complete. Li?

Thanks.

--
tejun

---