Subject: Re: question about copying container
Posted by amissus on Sat, 17 Nov 2012 08:55:00 GMT

Yes, as Ales said, It is what you want.

I have a few "template" containers which I keep up to date and when I want new "production" or "testing" container, I simply copy one of template one. OS template is actually only archived private area. It saves space and it is more "uniform" but I am not using it.

Modify config file for many CTs when using "copy" method by some type of script must be easy for person, who is playing with OpenVZ