
Subject: Re: OpenVZ Debian packages - reliability
Posted by divB on Sun, 21 Jul 2013 16:30:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thank you!

That's not good news Don't know what to do now

I want to avoid an own kernel because it's an autonomous 24x7 system which should run with as few user interaction as possible. When a bug in Debian kernel is discovered it takes me a large time to install a new one which could be problematic.
