Hi All,

Maybe someone had a success with running LLDP?

I found that knowing where the virtual or physical machines are physically connected is a great feature.

Currently I have no problem to run LLDP on a physical ubuntu. so in one command on the switch I know exactly where each server is connected.

I have tried two methods with no luck.

1. using a package name ladvd
2. using a package named lldpad

Both have issues.

Ladvd does not require any configuration by default just install and that's it.

Thanks in advance.

David
