Subject: Re: Is my VPS provider being negligent in not upgrading the kernel?
Posted by mustardman on Tue, 08 Dec 2015 20:07:11 GMT

I would say yes.

I think there have been several critical security updates since then. The worst is one where someone is theoretically able to jailbreak out of their container and get root access to the physical server and/or access to other containers. Pretty sure that fix is in a newer kernel than what your provider is running.