
Subject: Re: [PATCH 3/9] network namespaces: playing and debugging
Posted by Stephen Hemminger on Wed, 16 Aug 2006 16:46:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Tue, 15 Aug 2006 18:48:43 +0400
Andrey Savochkin <saw@sw.ru> wrote:

> Temporary code to play with network namespaces in the simplest way.
> Do
> exec 7< /proc/net/net_ns
> in your bash shell and you'll get a brand new network namespace.
> There you can, for example, do > ip link set lo up > ip addr list
> ip addr add 1.2.3.4 dev lo > ping -n 1.2.3.4
>
> Signed-off-by: Andrey Savochkin <saw@swsoft.com>

NACK, new /proc interfaces are not acceptable.
