Subject: Re: [RFC][PATCH 5/7] UBC: kernel memory accounting (core)
Posted by dev on Thu, 17 Aug 2006 13:45:00 GMT

> The
>
> +   ub->ub_parms[UB_KMEMSIZE].limit = 32 * 1024 * 1024
>
> seems a bit arbitary. 32Mb is variously vast amounts of memory and not > enough to boot depending if you are booting a PDA or a 4096 core Itanic
> box
this limit is for newly created UBs, host system (ub0) is unlimited by default.
The idea was to limit the user by default to make system secure.
do you think it is good idea to have unlimited users created by default?
Anyway, after creating UB context normal behaviour would be to set some limits.

Thanks,
Kirill