Hello all, just downloaded and installed OpenVZ, and i must say its a big improvement over other VPS systems that i have tested IMHO.

Just a quickie thou... I have currently installed the Fedora and CentOS templates supplied, and built the cache however noticed a few vital (well, not quite vital) utils are missing.

To add these, is it just a case of adding the necessary package name into either default.list or minimal.list files for example; to include mysql to the default.list, just add the line mysql-server somewhere. or will i need to find all the dependency files as well.

I know its quite a novice question, and prob has been answered somewhere in the manuals. But i've read so much, i prob missed it a hundred and one times

Andy