Subject: Re: arp entries on HN
Posted by John Kelly on Wed, 20 Sep 2006 03:08:13 GMT

My provider escalated the problem to the next level techs, who replied:

Quote:I doubled the arp unresolved threshold to allow the CPU to resolve more arp entries on each attempt. I also set the arp for your IP addresses static.

They previously had said my ARP entries were already static, but obviously, that was false.

I have not seen the problem any today, so it seems they fixed it, by making my ARP entries static at the router.

So, never mind my question ...