You can use iptables as usual in VE and on HN to create firewall.
The only thing you should keep in head is that VE uses HN as gateway through venet interface (if you use veth interface for VE than situation is different).

If the question is "where to set firewall in VE or on HN?", then it depends on the situation. If you wish the root of VE to be able to modify iptables rules then it should be in VE, otherwise it shoud be on HN.
