Subject: Re: Ubuntu Template /dev Problems
Posted by wimalopaan on Fri, 06 Jan 2006 18:18:17 GMT

Am Freitag, 6. Januar 2006 19:23 schrieb Greg Felter:
> I am creating an Ubuntu 5.04 template for OpenVZ and have run into a > problem. There are no /dev/pty, /dev/random, and /dev/urandom devices in > /dev. I have created these devices by the following:
>
> cd /vz/root/111/dev; /vz/root/111/sbin/MAKEDEV pty

I think you should create them in /vz/private/111/...

>
> This creates the devices just fine. When I reboot Ubuntu the devices are > not there and need to be created all over again. When I created templates > for other linux distros I have had to create /dev/pty but they are there on > reboot.
>
> drwxr-xr-x 4 root root 4096 Jan 1 14:18 dev
>
> How do I solve this problem on Ubuntu? Thanks
>
> *Also posted to ubuntu.com support forum
>
--
--
Wilhelm Meier
email: meier@informatik.fh-kl.de