2.6.16-026test017.1 kernel supports live migration.

The reason of your problem is that appropriate kernel modules aren't loaded: vzcp, vzrst.

Usually these modules should be loaded by /etc/init.d/vz script at startup. Check does it happen or not.

You can manually start vz service giving `/etc/init.d/vz start` command, or just load vzcp/vzrst kernel modules using modprobe.

Also check that you're using latest vzctl (vzctl-3.0.11).
