

---

Subject: Re: Remove logmessage when entering VE

Posted by kfh on Mon, 09 Oct 2006 13:22:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Well, well.

Yes, I have

LOG_LEVEL=9

So loglevel is for console/terminal and logfile.

I want information in my logfile, but a quiet console.

Regards,

Kristian.

On Monday den 9. October 2006 15:01, Kirill Korotaev wrote:

> Kristian,

>

> have you raised your default vzctl loglevel?

> if so, then dim@ is right. you are using verbose mode.

> and the shifted command line should be fixed then.

>

> Thanks,

> Kirill

>

> >>Hi list,

> >>

> >>Patch removing logmessage "Open /dev/pts/X"

> >>from src/enter.c when entering VE

> >>

> >>Before:

> >># vzctl enter 1010

> >>entered into VE 1010

> >>Open /dev/pts/0

> >>          root@dev-test2:/#

> >>

> >>After:

> >># vzctl enter 1010

> >>entered into VE 1010

> >>root@dev-test2:/#

> >

> > This is useful debug message, why to remove it?

> > If the problem is that the next line is shifted, then we need another > > fix.

> >

> >>Best regards,

> >>Kristian Høgh

> >>Segtel A/S

>

---