5 days ago git was tagged by 026test020 tag, then we've built rpms with path-026test020, which in turn are called like ovzkernel--2.6.16-026test020.1..rpm and put them in internal testing. After tests passed successful, we've upload these rpms to the web and make an announce.

So, the meaning of the announce - kernel rpms are built, tested, and uploaded to the web.

.1 extension is just rpm release number.
