Subject: Re: Ubuntu 6.10 Edgy Eft in VPS ?
Posted by KriS83 on Mon, 13 Nov 2006 00:00:33 GMT

Hi,

personally I have not tried it, though have you tried to change the "sh" symlink from /bin/dash to /bin/bash?

The default sh symlink to /bin/dash has broken alot of scripts inside Ubuntu. Fixed most of my problems anyways :)

Good luck.

Regards,
Kristian

Am Sonntag, den 12.11.2006, 19:42 +0100 schrieb Andreas Mimz:
> Has anyone had any luck getting Edgy Eft to work inside a VPS?
> If I'm using the old sysvinit-package from edgy then some parts like > networking won't start at boot - I have to start the init-script > manually... When using Edgy Eft's default init-daemon, 'upstart', the > VPS won't boot at all... well, it starts but after mounting all local > volumes it looks like as if the init process is shutting down - and so > is the vps.
>
>
>
>