Hello Cahya,

I've looked at google and found that such panics happened even on the 2.6.14-rc kernels. However for the investigation I need the full bootlog from our 64-bit kernel. There is only one way to get it: to attach the serial console (i mean simple null-modem serial cable) and dump the boot messages on the another node.

I would like to know, have you such possibility?

thank you,
Vasily Averin
