
Subject: Re: My question with my VPS
Posted by kir on Thu, 14 Dec 2006 08:00:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

And if you set new parameters via 'vzctl set' you do not have to restart your VE.

This wiki page should help you: http://wiki.openvz.org/Resource_shortage

Andrey Mirkin wrote:

> Hello.

>

> Can you please look into /proc/user_beancounters for failcounters for your VE.

> I think the problem is in numproc value in you case.

> BTW, if you edit config file manually then you need to restart your VE to > apply changes.

>

> Thanks,

> Andrey

>

> On Thursday 14 December 2006 05:07 xiao liu wrote:

>

>> Hello. I have a question with my VPS. I create a fedora-core-4-i386-default

>> VPS with OpenVZ. When I do a ping-pong test, I found my VPS only can create

>> 16 thread at most. So I view my VID.conf and edit PRIVVMPAGES="49152:53575"

>> to PRIVVMPAGES="991520:1035750", then I found I still only can create 45 >> thread. But I think there is enough mem in my computer...

>> Attached my ping-pong test source code

>>

>> Could anyone help me? Thanks!

>>

>>

>> Express yourself instantly with MSN Messenger! Download today it's FREE!

>> <http://messenger.msn.click-url.com/go/onm00200471ave/direct/01/>

>>
