

---

Subject: Re: Installation on Debian - VFS: Cannot open root device

Posted by pjdevries on Thu, 28 Dec 2006 19:17:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

A question related to comparing and synchronising the two config files:

How do I handle options that are configured as 'm' in one configuration file but configured as 'y' in the other? The default Debian installation has an initrd but the OpenVZ kernel doesn't. It also appears that the OpenVZ kernel has most options set to 'y'.

---