Hello,

I was installing openvz via HyperVM but I have noticed that it is the same when I like to do it via command line.

(yum clean all is performed as you can see, server is clean after installation centos 5.8 x64)

```

A temporary solution is to do wget on needed packages and install them using rpm -UVh

It worked for me but repo is not working still.

I had the same problem and the solution for me was to remove the existing installed vzctl and install ploop and vzctl manually with the rpm, everything worked fine after that.
