Good evening,

I'm using a vServer and the host uses OpenVZ for virtualisizing. My hoster told me that quota is enabled. I use ispconfig for the managment. But when I log in as a user, I can't see, how much webspace the user is currently using. In another board I read that I have to use vzqouta and that ispconfig is able to read this quota, but I still have no information. I heard that the qouta version is too new maybe and so ispconfig can't read it. Is it true? And how can I use qouta in ispconfig? Thanks in advance.
