Hi

Can any one help me in dumping the containers configuration file alone using vzdump util.

My Plan to backup a container:

1. Using vzdump util to dump containers configuration file alone, so that it can be huge in size and the time taken for the dump is also less.
2. Backup entire containers file using a file based backup util to a remote machine.

On restore:

1. First, I will restore the container using the dump file created using the vzdump util.
2. Copy the files available from the remote machine to its original path.
