When i go to /vz/root/ with container on or off, there is no data there, same as when i go to /vz/private/ no data! i have 1000 containers and they all work.
i dont know where the data is.

My guess is that everybody is still flabbergasted by the fact that you've misplaced 1000 virtual servers

Look at the openvz config files, which will point you to where the container contents are.

BTW, don't touch the container contents while they are running without a good reason and without knowing what you're doing...
