

---

Subject: Virtuozzo To OpenVZ

Posted by blackmaronj on Wed, 18 Jul 2007 14:05:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Im a newb but I wanted to know if it was possible to go from a virtuozzo install to an OpenVZ install without an osreload, I currently dont have any VPS's up and running I would just rather not have to reload the box. Is it possible?

---

---

Subject: Re: Virtuozzo To OpenVZ

Posted by blackmaronj on Wed, 18 Jul 2007 14:06:51 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

also im running redhat enterprise.

---

---

Subject: Re: Virtuozzo To OpenVZ

Posted by devonblzx on Thu, 19 Jul 2007 15:20:51 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I believe it would just be a matter of you uninstalling virtuozzo utilities, installing openvz utilities, and customizing a new kernel.

I don't see why you would have to reload your OS but maybe I'm wrong?

---