I see some precreated template cache:

<http://openvz.org/download/template/cache/>

But I only want metadata, to customize, without downloading a big tar.gz; i have a low bandwidth connection.

I also see metadata for centos and FC:

<http://openvz.org/download/template/metadata/>

But where are the other choices? Debian, suse, slackware, etc.

Debian template is created in a different manner: see Debian template cache creation in 5 minutes.

SUSE template creation is a bit different thing -- you can't really use vzpkgcache/yum for that since there dependencies and pre/post installation scripts in RPMs are not sufficient to install the system from scratch.

Slackware -- afaik nobody tried it yet.
