Subject: accidentally deleted the /vz/root dir
Posted by squidly on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 15:26:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi all,

By some inner demon that told me to rm -f /* i removed all the directories in the /vz dir (I was a the root user in VZ). I see the VE 101 is still running but all the websites are unknown hosts? I have the backup from a week ago and the vz/private is still untouched and intact. What is the best way to rebuild this as if only the data is 1 week old and all configs are the same. Please advise. Thanks.

Subject: Re: accidentally deleted the /vz/root dir
Posted by squidly on Tue, 28 Apr 2009 17:52:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So far, I've gotten around to understand where what folders are located where but I'm confused about the fact I've stopped and restarted the VEID and /vz/root/101/var/www/virtual have all reappeared but I'm still cannot ping the server from the outside. I'm missing something else? Did I delete about physical directory when I deleted the VPS root?