

---

Subject: Re: [PATCH] usb: Fixup usb so it uses struct pid

Posted by Greg KH on Sun, 10 Sep 2006 21:37:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Sat, Sep 09, 2006 at 10:42:10PM -0600, Eric W. Biederman wrote:

>
> The problem by remember a user space process by it's pid it is > possible that the process will exit, pid wrap around will occur and a > different process will appear in it's place. Holding a reference > to a struct pid avoid that problem, and paves the way > for implementing a pid namespace.
>
> Also since usb is the only user of kill_proc_info_as_uid > rename kill_proc_info_as_uid to kill_pid_info_as_uid > and have the new version take a struct pid.
>
> This patch is against 2.6.18-rc6-mm1.
>
> Signed-off-by: Eric W. Biederman <ebiederm@xmission.com>

Looks good to me.

Do you want me to take this in my tree, or will you be going through Andrew, like your other, related pid stuff? If through Andrew, please feel free to add:

Signed-off-by: Greg Kroah-Hartman <gregkh@suse.de> thanks,

greg k-h

---

Containers mailing list

Containers@lists.osdl.org

<https://lists.osdl.org/mailman/listinfo/containers>

---