
Subject: Re: [PATCH 5/5][NFS] Cleanup explicit check for mandatory locks
Posted by Trond Myklebust on Tue, 18 Sep 2007 13:27:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Tue, 2007-09-18 at 10:20 +0400, Pavel Emelyanov wrote:

> Trond Myklebust wrote:

> > On Mon, 2007-09-17 at 11:57 +0400, Pavel Emelyanov wrote:

> >> The `__mandatory_lock(inode)` macro makes the same check, but > >> makes the code more readable.

> >

> > Could we please avoid using underscores in macros. Also, why are we > > breaking the usual convention of capitalising macro names?

>

> Sorry, I've forgot to change all the log - this is not a macro, > but a static inline function. The underscores are here, because > the `mandatory_lock()` one already exists and additionally checks > for "if (`IS_MANDLOCK(inode)`)"

OK. I withdraw my objection then.

Cheers

Trond
