after a bit of messing about I found a temporary solution - though I still don't know why it doesn't work by default as it did before.

if I issue the following command I am then able to ping the VE both internally and externally. However, the VE still is not able to ping or access the net from inside it - so there must be something slightly different I need to do.

ip route add local XXX.XXX.XXX.132 dev eth3
