VirtualBox needs to build a module in the kernel vboxdrv I think but I don't remember exactly. That module should be compiled in the hardware node because all the VE's share the same kernel so if you wanna have the module working in a VE you need to build it in the Hardware node. I have never tried with VirtualBox but I worked with apps who need kernel modules in the container, like firehol.So the modules should be in the Hardware node.

Try to build the module there and tell us.
