Hello,

I haven't been able to reproduce this issue locally.

Do you have a chance to provide me with problem VE tarball as well as the steps have to be done to reproduce the problem?

I realize that this might be absolutely inconvenient for you but may be you have a chance to reproduce the problem on a newly created VE or at least can provide the detailed description what configuration file should be used for VE's web server and what kind of scripts should it invoke to get such behavior. Many thanks for your assistance.
