I meant the general approach, not the specific problem mentioned in that thread.

When I try to do:

```
mount -n --bind /var/lib/vz/shared/var_run_mysqld /var/lib/vz/root/101/var/run/mysqld

Even though the mount is present and working on the host, the files in the container do not reflect it at all. Using a mount point like this also seems to cause problems with vzquota. Perhaps I'm just missing a step somewhere?
