Subject: Re: Cannot stop / destroy container
Posted by Ales on Fri, 07 Oct 2011 21:56:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, it will. Or, to be more precise, it will install a new kernel and keep two old ones as backup. And as I'm sure you already know, you should check /boot/grub/grub.conf after updating, to make sure that the right kernel is set as default.