Subject: How to move large simfs directories from one container to another?
Posted by votsalo on Mon, 04 Aug 2014 13:45:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Can I move large directories between simfs containers quickly by doing the move across the private directories in the host? I tried it by using /var/lib/vz/private and also /vz/private and it was slow, as if it were copying the files.

I want to upgrade the OS of a large simfs container that I use for backup. So I thought I would create a new container with the new guest OS, and then move the directories I need from the old container to the new container.