* We noticed that now there is new kernel version vz7.158.8 which is getting installed on the newer nodes. Of course the patch that has been shared in this thread here is not usable for this version. But I believe that the kernel fix is not yet in that version of the kernel. Is it possible to have another patch for vz7.158.8?

I have checked - the kernel vz7.158.8 also has the needed fixes for ext4, same as the in-develoment vz7.163.x series. Live patches with these fixes are not needed there.
