First of all, thanks for the reply.

I think what is really needed is a practical example.

As you mentioned... I need to keep in mind that a VPS routes everything through the HN... ok... how would that impact my iptables rules on the HN? Do I have to worry about ipaddresses of my VPSes in the iptables rules on the HN or just the services?

It would be nice to see an example all laid out. That would be very helpful and probably eliminate a lot of the questions on the subject.

Or if this has already been documented somewhere, point me in the right direction.
